ATR VERDICT: STOCK MARKET was denied by only a head when second over C&D last week and a repeat of that level might suffice on this occasion. Roman Spring, Rianka and Valadero are the only ones with any recent winning form to their names and commands respect on that basis. However, Big Bard tends to go well here and he could be a bigger danger off 7lb below his last successful mark.

ATR VERDICT: Henrietta Knight saddles two, both of whom were successful here on their latest starts over timber. MOTAZZEN is a five-timer course winner, though, and is perhaps the more reliable of the pair. He has been put up 6lb for his latest victory but Richard Upton negates the rise with his 7lb claim and he may have the edge over his improving stablemate, who reverts to handicap company now. Goodwin and Crooked Path are others to consider.

ATR VERDICT: The front-running Lunar Empress sets the standard here with a rating of 86. She rallied gamely last time under Shane Foley and commands plenty of respect. Belicoso had valid excuses last time and comes here under Dylan Browne McMonagle in a first-time visor, which may see him go closer at the fifth attempt. A tentative vote goes to MAXIMILIEN LUCE, who was well-beaten on debut, but he was caught on the wing that day and didn't appear to be in love with the ground. Being by St Mark's Basilica, he will appreciate faster conditions and should take a marked step forward on this occasion.

Long Handicap: Metallic 8 - 4, Tullyesker 7 - 12

ATR VERDICT: Despite the big field there is a lack of winning course form. No More Porter is the sole contender that fits the bill having won here three times previously, but the latest of those victories came back in 2024. Three-year-old SUIR MONAD attempts to concede weight all round. He was raised 7lb after scoring in decisive fashion at Killarney, but that was only his second start in a handicap and the son of Dark Angel may well have more to offer. Navajo Point has won two of his last three starts, both at Gowran Park, and enters calculations along with the likes of Khormor Syd, Nibras Rainbow and Mare Crisium.
